Alaskan oil field drilling scheduled

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Sometime next month, workmen and equipment will be ferried to the shores of remote Lake Teshekpuk and the long-awaited tapping of what could be Alaska's largest oilfield will begin.

By winter's end, contractors expect to have two of 26 planned deep wells in operation in the 37,000-square-mile area southeast of here known as Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4.

"The potential is here — definitely," said Lt. Cmdr. Terrence J. Woods, the Navy's officer in charge of the reserve. "The odds are high, but given a 26-well program, we think we are going to find some gas and oil."

Just how much oil the crews hired for the job by Husky Oil NPR Operations Inc., will find isn't certain. The government two decades ago estimated 33 billion barrels, though some say it may go as high as 100 billion.

The U.S. Geological Survey in June reported the country's proven reserves at 34.25 billion barrels, a supply of something over five years. The total did not include unproven reserves, nor did it include offshore oil.

Prospects alone suggested to Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the field may be "another Kuwait."

Husky's crews will operate from a staging area on the Beaufort Sea about 100 miles southeast of here that is so remote it is called "Lonely." There are no roads into the icy oilfield, so operations will be supplied by air and, in some cases, by tractor trains plying an arduous overland route.

Pet-4, as the new field is called, is west of Alaska's first big oil find, Prudhoe Bay.

Prudhoe's recoverable reserves have been estimated conservatively at 9.6 billion barrels — enough oil to justify construction of the 800-mile, $6 billion-plus trans-Alaska pipeline.

Woods said he expects Husky to award necessary subcontracts by the end of the month, since drilling must be done between late December to mid-May of each year.

During the first year, Husky says it expects to spend about $47 million for the work.

To receive gifts, bequests

Hospital foundation corporation okayed

Establishment of a Fayette County Memorial Hospital foundation has been approved by the hospital's board of trustees.

The foundation will be a private, tax-exempt corporation authorized to receive gifts and make expenditures on behalf of Fayette Memorial Hospital. Although the bylaws of the foundation must be approved by the hospital's board of trustees, the foundation will not be subordinate to the trustees, according to Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator.

Kunz expects the foundation to have approximately 20 members, two of whom will also be members of the board of trustees. The recommendations of the board of trustees will be presented through its representation, but the "consumers" will have much greater representation, he said.

Membership will encompass persons countywide, and it is hoped that the foundation will serve a two-fold purpose. Its goals are to encourage donations to the hospital and offer area residents the majority vote in how the money is to be spent. In general, donations will be used to maintain, expand and increase services at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

In other action, the board of trustees accepted a bid from a Missouri firm of $16,940 to furnish the 20 rooms in the newly-constructed hospital wing. The greatest portion of the expense is payment of $595 each for 20 electrical beds. Other items included in the cost are bed rails, cabinets and bed tables among others.

The money being used for the purchase was left to the hospital by the estate of Mrs. Kathleen Stookey to be used at the discretion of the board of trustees. Kunz noted that there are several pieces of equipment needed to completely service the new area.

Consulting staff privileges in cardiology were approved for Dr. Mohammad A. Jan of London as well as for 45 staff members who reapplied for 1976 staff status. Kunz said no present staff members were denied privileges for the coming year.

The board also approved the expenditure of $2,228 for equipment, and authorized Kunz to submit $2,051 in bad debts for November to a collection agency.

A resolution was approved by the board to implement procedures to comply with the "sunshine law." The date, time and meeting place of all board of trustees meetings will be posted in the office of the administrator. Written notice will be sent to persons or organizations who provide the administrator with self-addressed stamped envelopes and request notification prior to Dec. 31 of each year.

Kunz presented the statistical report for November to the board. It disclosed 314 admissions resulting in 2,098 inpatient days. There were 45 births with 149 newborn patient days, and the average number of persons in the hospital each day during the month was 67.67.

The hospital operated at 82.07 per cent occupancy, with 88.65 per cent occupancy in the medical and surgical division. The average stay was 6.76 days per patient and 7.42 for medical and surgical patients.

There were 1,089 x-rays taken, 5,809 laboratory test performed, 1,118 emergency room patients, 455 inhalation treatments, and 408 physical therapies administered.

The hospital staff performed 65 major surgeries and 50 minor surgeries.

The actual revenue per patient day to date this year has been $99.58. The budget called for $95.31, and the national average is $122.46.

The hospital's actual expenses per patient day have been $101.06 while the budget estimated $95.62. The national average is $120.36.

The actual expense per admission has been $632.29. The budget estimated $568.24, and the national average is $874.52, Kunz said.

House decided that loan guarantees to encourage coal production should be limited to new mines, not extensions of old ones, and deleted a $750-million guarantee provision to encourage development of an advanced prototype automobile.

The bill includes standby authority for emergency gasoline rationing.

It also would require manufacturers to build automobiles that average 18 miles per gallon by 1978, with the requirement rising to 27.5 miles per gallon by 1985.

The government would be directed to establish a 500 million to one billion barrel petroleum reserve over the next seven years.

Federal loan guarantees up to $750 million would be available to encourage more production by small coal operators.

Sgt. Harris retiring after 34-year career

By MARK THELLMANN

You see a Washington C.H. police cruiser go by and a hand within goes up and gives a little wave. Immediately you know it is Police Sgt. Virgil Harris.

But as of Sunday, Dec. 21, the wave from behind the steering wheel will come from a man in plain clothes driving a 1973 model Mercury because after that date—following 34 years, four months and 20 days of service—Sgt. Virgil Harris will enter into his retirement and leave the Washington C.H. police force.

"You can't help but know a whole lot of people after 34 years," Sgt. Harris smiled and admitted, "I guess that's why I wave so much."

There's more to the story than Sgt. Harris' modesty will allow him to explain. He has been a most respected officer since joining the force Sept. 1, 1941. People know Sgt. Harris and trust him and have petitioned his assistance and counseling for the past 34 years.

When asked to disclose his philosophy of dealing with the public, especially in a law enforcement capacity, the amiable 61-year-old Sgt. Harris smiled and told this story.

"When I was a small boy in school here in the county where I was born and raised, I had a small gold ruler which was engraved with 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you—the golden rule' and after looking at that every day it sunk in," Sgt. Harris stated. "The secret of dealing with people—if you want to call it a secret, it really isn't—can be summed up in one word, 'approach.' If you approach someone with dominance and aggression, you are going to receive a defensiveness in return and that's not what you want to invoke while disarming someone!" Sgt. Harris said laughing. "You want to convey kindness and understanding. There's a reason for every action and an officer should seek that reason. I'm not saying caution should be overlooked, but a person should be given common courtesy and every chance to explain and reform."

When asked whether he had been taken in by criminals with such an idealistic attitude, Sgt. Harris replied, "No, I haven't because I'm a pretty good judge of character. My step-father was

AFTER SEVERAL days of mild, spring-like weather one of our fine feathered friends evidently got mixed up and decided to detour north instead of continuing south for the winter. . .

Mrs. John Baker, 337 Ely St., reported that she saw a robin in her backyard early Tuesday morning. . .

The advancing cold front will no doubt straighten the bird out, and he will be in a sunnier climate in time for Christmas. . .

THE ANNUAL home decorating contest, sponsored by the Washington C.H. Jaycees, will be held beginning at 6 p.m. Thursday. . .

Five teams of Jaycees will handle the judging. . . Four teams will cover Washington C.H. and a fifth will canvass the rural area. . . Due to the large areas involved in the rural sections of Fayette County, it is impossible to judge all homes outside the city limits. . .

For this reason, persons residing in rural areas are requested to notify Mike Cruea (335-0836) or Lary Cruea (335-0597) if they wish their homes to be considered in the contest. . .

Extended U.S. holiday set

WASHINGTON (AP) — It will be the four days of Christmas for federal workers.

President Ford signed an executive order Monday giving government employees the Friday after Christmas as a federal holiday, extending their time off through the weekend.

The White House announced, however, that Ford does not plan to do the same for the Friday after New Year's Day.

Ford had withheld his decision on granting the Friday holiday — traditional when Christmas falls on Thursday as it will this year — because of added costs.

The Civil Service Commission recommended the additional time off; the Defense Department, citing premium pay running into millions of dollars for essential personnel who would have to work anyway, lobbied against the extra day.

Energy bill nears final action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wide-ranging energy bill that would temporarily reduce fuel prices is before the Senate for final congressional action, but faces an uncertain fate at the hands of President Ford.

The House passed the bill 236 to 160 on Monday night. Legal authority for maintaining oil price controls expired less than three hours later, at midnight, before the Senate had time to act.

But with the legislation in its final stages, oil companies were not expected to take advantage of the opportunity to raise prices.

Before passing the measure, a modified version of a Senate-House compromise, the House beat back an effort to ease its price rollback provisions. It did so in the face of a warning from Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona that, while Ford's decision whether to veto the bill is uncertain, adoption of the amendment to roll back prices a lesser amount would make it more acceptable to the President.

The bill would roll back the average price of domestic oil from the present $10.75 a barrel average to $7.66. However, it would allow the price to rise by a much as 10 per cent a year over the next 40 months and would give Ford some flexibility in permitting other increases.

The immediate effect would be an estimated 2.5 cent per gallon price reduction for gasoline and heating oil.

Fought over since February at every stage of consideration and in tough negotiations with the administration, the bill underwent further modifications at the end. These may prolong Senate consideration.

Rejecting Senate provisions, the

Auto price hikes coming again

DETROIT (AP) — Ford and Chrysler have announced new price hikes on cars only three months after the opening of the 1976 model year, when all four domestic makers tacked on substantial increases.

Auto analysts said strong sales improvements since the model year began made industry officials confident they could make the new price increases without renewing the industry's two-year slump.

"They wanted a price increase earlier and thought the market couldn't tolerate it," said Arvid Jouppi, an independent Detroit analyst. "And now they feel the market can bear it better than at the beginning of the model year."

Ford Motor Co.'s average $97 price hike, announced Monday, will be effective Jan. 5. Ford said the increase was needed because of unrecovered cost increases, sagging profits and government-mandated safety and fuel-economy improvements.

Chrysler Corp. also said on Monday it would raise prices as much as $60.95 on just a few of its cars to cover the cost of new government-required braking systems. The increase, effective Dec. 22, will average $3 when spread over the firm's entire model line.

In September, Ford raised combined base and option prices an average 4.7 per cent, or $247, while Chrysler increased prices 3.4 per cent, or $178.

A spokesman for General Motors Corp. said the company had no plans to raise passenger car prices because its braking systems already meet government standards. But GM said the suggested price on light trucks would increase $35 on Jan. 1 to cover the cost of improved seat belts.

Americans Motors Corp. said no decision had been made yet on whether to raise prices.

General Motors raised prices an average of $268 per car in September and AMC raised theirs an average of $190.

Ford said base prices of its cars would go up an average 2.2 per cent. In addition to the base price increase, Ford said prices of optional auto equipment would rise an average 1.6 per cent.

It said prices for light trucks will increase an average of 2.8 per cent or $123. The suggested base prices of medium, heavy and extra-heavy trucks will increase an average of $320, or 3 per cent, as of Feb. 1, the company said.

At Wednesday's meeting

City's finance report to be eyed by solons

The shortness of the agenda for Wednesday night's Washington C.H. City Council meeting in no way reflects the importance of the meeting.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the City Office Building conference room.

As yet only two items are scheduled for discussion or action, the second reading of the proposed sewer rate ordinance and the city financial report.

The financial report which spans some 50 pages outlines the city's present financial status as well as a projection of the financial situation for the coming year.

The fact that the city is in financial trouble for 1976 is no secret, but speculation concerning the degree of the problem has been hotly debated for the past several months.

City Manager George H. Shapter and city auditor Jack Stackhouse have been labored for several weeks in an attempt to present the city's financial picture in a concise readable form.

The report will be presented to Council and discussed. Some discussion of possible austerity measures for 1976 is expected.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Frank N. Wean

Mrs. Echo D. E. Wean, 74, wife of Frank N. Wean, 1714 Green Valley Road, died at 12:30 p.m. Monday in Grant Hospital, Columbus, where she had been a patient one week. She had been in failing health for five years.

Born in Indiana, Mrs. Wean moved to Washington C.H. from Marysville in 1929. She was a member of First Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by her husband, Frank N.; a son, Frank N. Wean Jr., of Cincinnati; two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Betty) Rockhold of Mansfield, and Mrs. Hugh (Violet) Gidding of Syracuse, Ind.; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren; and a brother, William Adney of Rivieria, Ariz.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home Washington C.H., with the Rev. Gerald Wheat, officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 3 to 5 and 7 until 9 p.m. Wednesday.

On tax measure

Solons confident of veto override

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill that would extend 1975 individual tax cuts into the new year is now in the hands of a committee that will prepare it for final delivery to President Ford, but there is little chance the measure will win Ford's approval.

The members of the conference committee that will work out the final form of the bill have wide latitude in saying how income taxes should be cut, but they have no authority to tie the six-month, tax-cut extension to a spending ceiling that Ford has demanded as the price for his approval.

Thus, whether the average worker will see an 8-per cent tax hike starting in January apparently hinges on whether House Democrats can hold together and muster the Republican votes needed to override the Ford veto nearly sure to come.

Failure to extend the tax cuts would cost a married man earning $15,000 a year and supporting a wife and two children an additional $4.73 a week in withholding, or about $250 more in income taxes for the year, according to the Internal Revenue Service. For a single person earning $15,000, the withholding would be increased by about $3 per week or $156 for the year.

The tax cut, enacted this year as an economy boosting measure, expires automatically on Dec. 31 unless extended by Congress.

The Senate indicated it will have no trouble overriding Ford when 17 Republicans joined 56 Democrats Monday night in passing the bill, 73 to 19. Only two Democrats sided with 17 Republicans against the measure.

The margin was 11 more than would be needed to re-pass the bill over Ford's veto.

The House vote earlier this month was considerably closer, 257 to 168, but Democratic leaders have expressed confidence the two-thirds majority needed to override can be obtained.

The key test of Ford's influence on the tax issue came when the Senate voted 66 to 27 against a Republican effort to tie the tax reduction for 1976 to a ceiling on federal spending for 1977.

Some senators who consistently support Ford deserted him on that vote, agreeing with Democratic leaders that to set such a spending ceiling so early would be impractical and would represent abandonment of the newly enacted procedures under which Congress gave itself an expanded role in developing the federal budget.

One Democrat, Sen. Walter D. Huddleston of Kentucky, said Ford's insistence on a spending ceiling for 1977 was pure politics to appease those conservatives who otherwise might favor Ronald Reagan over Ford in GOP primaries.

"It is degrading to the Senate to have to face such a political ploy to salvage a position taken by the President, who some months ago decided he was going to occupy himself with campaigning ...," Huddleston said.

The bills passed by the House and Senate differ on how taxes would be cut but they agree that withholding rates affecting most paychecks should remain at the present level through next June 30.

The Senate bill would give slightly more help to the poor, to large families and to single persons than would the House version.

Sgt. Harris

a barber and at the age of 13, he started teaching me the trade. I discovered men in the shop would open up while getting shaved and their hair cut and speak freely about their problems and beliefs without covering up and putting on a facade. I was so interested in this behavior I started studying personalities and I've never stopped."

Sgt. Harris, 906 E. Paint St., was scheduled to take over his step-father's barber shop, formerly located across from the police station, at the age of 15. He finished ninth grade and then dropped out of school to support his family with the business when his step-father died.

"The city police department employed seven officers and wanted an eighth so I joined, becoming the man who substituted for the officer whose day-off it was. After working behind the badge eight hours I would change clothes, walk across the street and cut hair for a few more," Sgt. Harris explained.

The service required Sgt. Harris to put on a different uniform Jan. 1, 1943, which took him to such places as Italy, France, Africa, Japan, New Guinea, the Philippines and the Panama Canal. On Dec. 7, 1945, he returned home to police work and barbering. Previous to this, he married (in 1933) and raised one son, Charles E. Harris of 612 Campbell St.

"I let the barber business go in 1946 and concentrated on law enforcement," Sgt. Harris said, "and it's been that way ever since."

When asked why he's retiring, Sgt. Harris replied, "My friends have told me it's best to get out while your health is still good so you can enjoy your later years in life and I've finally taken their advice, although I've been eligible for retirement since Sept. 1, 1966. Besides, I've got so many unfinished things to do, maybe now I'll get them done!"

Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott expressed his grief over the loss of Sgt. Harris. "I'm not going to keep anyone from retiring, but this is one man we're all going to miss. I've never known a finer officer or a more trusted one, by both the public and his fellow officers," Chief Scott stated. "I've always said you can take the smartest man in the world and try to make him a police officer, but brains alone won't do it; you've got to have sound reason, compassion for your fellow man and most of all the ability to learn from experience. Sgt. Harris possesses all those things and when he goes, the 34 years of experience he'll take with him, will be irreplaceable," Chief Scott added.

Stock list posts gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced slightly today, continuing Monday's late upswing.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was ahead a fraction in the early going, and gainers outpaced losers by about a 4-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted some encouragement over recent softness in short term interest rates.

They also said some buying was encouraged by the market's steady showing of late despite the pressure of year-end tax selling.

Today's early prices included Fleetwood Enterprises, unchanged at 12 1/2; Black & Decker, up 1/4 at 24 1/2; Deseret Pharmaceutical, 1/4 higher at 15, and Citicorp, up 1/4 at 27 3/4.

In Monday's mixed market the Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.78 to 836.59.

But losers held a slight edge on gainers on the NYSE.

The exchange's composite index of all its listed common stocks added .12 to 46.38.

Big Board volume remained light at 13.96 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange the market value index slipped .02 to 81.90.

Pease plans campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, announced today he would seek the congressional seat of Rep. Charles A. Mosher, a Republican who said last week he will retire when his term expires in January 1977.

Pease, 44, a nine-year veteran of the state legislature, currently serves as chairman of the House-Senate Education Review Committee.

He has emphasized education issues and was an architect of the new equal yield state-aid formula for public schools.

Mosher, 69, regarded as a liberal Republican, is stepping down after eight terms in Congress.

His 13th Congressional District includes Lorain County, most of Medina and Erie counties and a corner of Summit County.

Pease, whose state Senate term does not expire until 1978, is an editor of the Oberlin News-Tribune.

Senate committee chief against Bush

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition to the nomination of George Bush to head the CIA appears to be minimal, but the chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee says he still plans to fight against confirmation.

Bush ran into scant opposition Monday as he told the Senate Armed Services Committee he would take no part "in any partisan political activity." At the same time, however, he refused to rule out the possibility that he would accept the Republican vice presidential nomination if it were offered.

Bush also told he panel that he could not rule out future CIA support for foreign military coups.

Intelligence committee Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, who has his own political ambitions, said he did not consider the Bush statement to be "a sufficient disavowal."

Amtrak hikes capacity

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Amtrak spokesman said Monday because of a surge in demand for seats for holiday travelers, enough extra coaches are being added to the Lake Shore Limited across Northern Ohio to boost the train's capacity 82 per cent.

The present capacity of 220 passengers will be increased to 400 starting Wednesday, the spokesman said, adding, "I'm willing to bet that all 400 of them will be filled."

He said the Lake Shore has been completely sold out on several days.

The strike against United Air Lines was cited as another factor in the increasing demand for train seats. The Lake Shore also has been drawing traffic from the Broadway Limited, which passes through Canton and is the only other passenger train across Northern Ohio.

Ohio emergency energy panel quits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's Energy Emergency Commission, created by an alarmed legislature shortly after the Arab oil embargo and just before a late 1974 national coal strike, has gone out of business.

The five-member commission held its final meeting Monday, then adjourned in deference to the newly-created Ohio Energy and Resource Development Agency which swings into full gear Jan. 1.

James Duerk, director of the Department of Economic and Community Development and commission chairman, said he thought the major accomplishment of the temporary commission was to focus Ohio's attention on energy problems and get ground work under way toward solutions. The commission goes out of existence Dec. 31.

The legislature created it in mid-1974 to assess energy problems and recommend legislation to avert shortages that would affect the economy, health, safety and welfare of the state's citizens. The creation of ERDA was a major result.

Robert Ryan, who will head the new energy agency, said he thinks the expiring commission played a major role in developing energy management and conservation plans, setting up an information system, and recommending new laws.

Already introduced in the legislature are measures that would beef up the power of ERDA to establish plans for allocating energy resources, and to take whatever moves might be necessary to deal with energy emergencies in Ohio, subject to the appropriate declaration by the governor.

Ryan noted that the commission also has provided information needed to develop self-help programs through which Ohio industries are being encouraged to develop their own energy supplies.

He said it also developed information needed to establish a coal gasification plant in Ohio. While the state was unsuccessful in its bid to become the site of a federally subsidized Coalcon gasification plant—which went to Illinois—Ryan said, "There are some additional companies which have expressed an interest in locating similar facilities in Ohio."

Duerk and the other members heard an update on the natural gas situation in Ohio, especially as it affects industries which were threatened with large scale layoffs if larger shortages, anticipated earlier, had materialized.

The commission staff said generally that largely because of "weather about 10 per cent warmer than usual," no significant layoffs now are expected this year. But it was stressed that the generally favorable result also is a result of allocation cut-backs, conservation, and belated announcements by natural gas companies of supplies greater than they had anticipated.

The dates escape them

Here we are, folks, on the eve of our 200th anniversary - the super-duper bicentennial you've all been hearing so much about. That was a glorious year, 1776, a year fraught with significance.

You might even want to make that a capital S, because the significance of that year was not just ordinary, garden variety significance. That was the year when the Declaration of Independence was signed and the colonies broke away from England. Everyone knows that.

Everyone, that is, except some 28 per cent of the American public. The figure is extrapolated from the findings of a recent Gallup poll.

Those questioned were asked, "Can you tell me what important event occurred in the following years?" As to 1776, only 72 per cent were able to come up with a positive answer. One of the other dates mentioned, 1215, brought responses that were only a little less disturbing - perhaps even more so, it might be argued. A mere seven per cent knew that Magna Carta, the great charter on which much of our law and civil rights ultimately rests, was signed in that year.

So there we have it: evidence that large millions of Americans - an overwhelming majority, so far as Magna Carta is concerned - are notably vague about high points of their historic background. To quote the dates of major events is not all, but American educators cannot be proud of this showing.

WASHINGTON CALLING... By Marquis Childs

Government needs security

WASHINGTON — "secrecy in government."

You only have to use that expression to stir anger and indignation and draw a blast from the nearest politician. So much has been revealed that happened behind closed doors and in back alleys in the FBI and the CIA that the mere suggestion that all government business cannot be conducted in a goldfish bowl gets an instant knee-jerk reaction.

But the plain truth is that this is an impossibility and, if the demand is pushed to the ultimate limit, not only will serious damage be done at home but we shall lose the trust and confidence of our allies and friends abroad. That is the issue in what is known as the "government is the sunshine" bill which passed the Senate 94 to 0. The author is Sen. Lewton Chiles, D-Fla., who says a similar measure has worked very well in Florida, the sunshine state. Every agency, every commission must hold virtually every meeting in public.

It would apply to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve system which has responsibility for assuring the soundness of the nation's commercial banking system. To try to do this in a goldfish bowl would entail grave risks not only to certain "problem" banks but to fiscal stability.

Chairman Arthur Burns of the Fed went up to tell a House subcommittee the other day why this is impossible. Supposing, he said, we have a bank holding company come before one of our meetings. They want to acquire Bank XYZ. XYZ is a problem bank. Now suppose we hold a public discussion of its difficulties.

The likelihood would be a run on the bank and the ripple effect might well damage the belief in other problem banks. The net result could have the most serious consequences for the entire banking system.

A provision in the sunshine law as passed by the Senate would allow certain passages in the transcript of a closed meeting to be deleted. But, Burns testified, it would not be long before the purport of those deleted passages became known and the same shock wave would rock the banking community.

"The inclusion of the Federal Reserve's monetary policy and bank regulatory functions under the bills in question," he told the subcommittee, "would be fraught with no less mischief than the inclusion of meetings of the National Security Council or meetings of the Secretary of State with his principal aides or meetings of the Secretary of the Treasury with foreign finance ministers, or meetings 'in camera' of the members of a Federal appellate court."

In short, he was saying that a great deal of the government's business must be done in private and particularly where international relations are concerned.

This is the heart of the matter over the contempt citation which the House intelligence committee is pressing against Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Woodrow Wilson with his brash rhetoric about "open covenants openly arrived at" perpetrated a doctrine that over past decades has done a great deal of harm. A covenant with another power must often be secretly negotiated. When it becomes public it can then be subjected to scrutiny and criticism.

Burns gave it as his considered judgment that foreign central banks would severely limit their present candid exchanges with the Fed if the Board were required to give public notice of the subject matter of closed meetings and to record every word spoken at a closed meeting. He noted that a court later might require the complete recording to be released.

Something like this has already happened with the CIA. Foreign governments are known to be withholding highly confidential information that formerly came to the agency as part of a reciprocal exchange. They fear that such information and, even more important the source, will appear in next week's headlines.

Burns is fully aware that his is a most unpopular position. Secrecy in government, these are code words ringing a bell that conjures up a picture of sinister conspirators at work in secret hideouts.

Sunshine may be very well for Florida, but it cannot be applied arbitrarily to the complex affairs of the most powerful nation in the world.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE
Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 17

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Avoid a present tendency toward lethargy. Gear efforts to achieve objectives more quickly. Improve occasionally. This day can be a helpful challenge.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Some tricky situations to handle. Don't leave anything to chance. Keep alert - all day! Look for some unexpectedly pleasant news in the p.m.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A day for action! Get right to the heart of matters requiring immediate attention and shun persons and activities which could distract you from top priorities.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Past efforts should be bearing fruit now. Study conditions and trends which, though odd, may hold new advantages.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Not a day for making important moves or decisions. Certain situations may be so confusing that you will need time to fully understand them.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Try to talk with individuals important to your aims. A bit of diplomatic maneuvering could have fine results. But avoid intrigue.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Stellar influences somewhat mixed, but generally on the favorable side. You may get unexpected help in a personal problem through a business associate.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Don't overtax yourself now. No matter how busy, MAKE time for a quiet review of your present status. A new appraisal needed.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Good opportunities indicated but you, of course, must be alert to them. Use trump cards strategically; aim to score as often as possible.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Be careful of the way in which you make your moves, whom you include in your plans - and confidence. Wrong decisions could offset the best of effort.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Personal matters may trouble you. Review them calmly, completely. Perhaps you are overemphasizing certain angles. There is no real need for anxiety.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Mixed influences. Organize talents and know-how to promote current interests more efficiently. You may be looking too far ahead at the moment.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a lively imagination, good judgment and uncanny foresight. When you act, it comes with precision and a quality of adaptability that is outstanding. You can conquer all odds and revolutionize with skill and lasting effect. You have a fine business head but, unlike most Sagittarians, are given to alternate spurts of penuriousness and extravagance which could show serious results in the accounting department. However, even should you lose fortunes, you can always amass them again since those of your Sign, governed by Jupiter, are the moneymakers of the world. Other fields in which you could excel: literature, science, music, the law, any occupation which involves travel.

Ohio Perspective

Brown unveils consumer policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In a continuing expansion of his sphere of influence in consumer affairs, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown is assigning lawyers to represent the public interest before government decision-making bodies.

The new policy was unveiled late last month at a rule-making hearing called by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to consider enforcement of the new electric fuel adjustment law.

Michael J. Szolosi, chief of the attorney general's special litigation section, showed up as "a representative of the State of Ohio and its electric consuming citizens."

Three utility lawyers objected to Szolosi's intervention because another assistant attorney general was representing PUCO. PUCO commissioner David Sweet overruled the objections and Szolosi proved to be a persistent questioner of utility witnesses.

"We're definitely on solid ground," Szolosi said of the new policy to represent consumer interests before state and federal, boards, agencies and commissions.

Brown has joined with 11 other state attorneys general in a federal lawsuit seeking to delay a 3 cent increase in first class postage stamps until the U.S. Postal Rate Commission "has heard all evidence." The increase is planned for Dec. 28, but the rate hearings are not expected to be completed until next May, Brown said.

Szolosi readily admits that special litigation consumer lawyers may often be pitted against other assistant attorney generals but does not consider such an adversary relationship a problem, or even a new development.

"That's not an uncommon occurrence because we represent so many clients," he pointed out. Officially, the attorney general represents all branches of state government, including Gov. James A. Rhodes. State officials may ask Brown to appoint outside counsel to represent them in unusual cases, however.

Szolosi, working with four other special litigation lawyers, insists that the new direction can bring positive results for consumers.

"We hope we can make an impact. We can present witnesses with expertise comparable to what the utilities have and hope they will present alternatives for the commission (PUCO) to consider."

How can I get him to do what other healthy people do without hurting his feelings?

MRS. READY KILOWATT, LYNN, MASS.

DEAR MRS. READY: Tell him to please cut out the shop-talk and that your primary concern is transforming him into a loving husband.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman with two children, but I have a problem I can't handle. It's my husband's mother. She's a very kind-hearted woman and I love her dearly, but she is a terrible gossip.

She is constantly telling me the most vicious things about our relatives, friends and neighbors. She even tells tales about people I don't know.

Some of it's true and some isn't, but she always has a nasty story about somebody's private business.

I just sit quietly and occasionally say, "Oh really?" Or, "You don't say!"

I would rather not hear all this gossip, Abby. It makes me feel so dirty and depressed, but I was reared to respect my elders, so what do you suggest?

My fiancé is working and going to college, and I am employed full-time. As you know, money is tight these days, and everything is very expensive.

When my fiancé and I went to pick out the ring, everything I saw that I really liked was about twice what he could afford to spend, so I suggested that we go 50-50 on the cost. He said he wasn't crazy about the idea, but if it would make me happy, he would go along with it.

I would appreciate your opinion.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, Dec. 16, the 350th day of 1975. There are 15 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1773, American colonists disguised as Indians boarded a British ship in Boston harbor and dumped 342 chests of tea overboard. The tax protest went down in history as the "Boston Tea Party."

On this date —

In 1770, the German composer Ludwig Van Beethoven was born.

In 1809, Napoleon Bonaparte was divorced from the Empress Josephine by an act of the French parliament.

In 1835, a fire in New York City burned some 600 buildings.

In 1916, the monk who wielded powerful influence over the Russian Czar, Gregory Rasputin, was murdered.

In 1944, the World War II Battle of the Bulge was being fought in Belgium.

In 1960, two airliners crashed after colliding over New York harbor and 131 persons were killed.

Ten years ago: Seven workers were killed in the collapse of 1,600 tons of wet concrete at a railroad overpass construction site in Montreal.

Five years ago: Bloody riots over price increases broke out in Poland and many were killed when police opened fire.

One year ago: President Ford and French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing reached a compromise agreement on coordinating energy policies.

Today's birthdays: Auto executive James Roche is 69 years old. Television producer and director George Schaeffer is 54.

Thought for today: Genius is the ability to put into effect what is in your mind — novelist F. Scott Fitzgerald, 1896-1940.

Bicentennial footnote: 100 years ago today, American forces battering Quebec sent a flag of truce to the British, demanding surrender. It was refused.

Because of expected cut in state funding

Board delays appropriations measure

By GEORGE MALEK

The state's financial instability in the area of school aid delayed firm action by the Washington C.H. Board of Education on the 1976 appropriations at the regular semi-monthly meeting Monday night.

Although the board expects a decrease in school aid of some $7,000 from this year, the final appropriations cannot be determined until a firm estimate of state funding has been received. The board hopes to have all pertinent information by the next meeting.

The first order of business at the upcoming meeting will be to reorganize for 1976. The terms of president Walter E. (Gene) Bienz and vice president Robert N. Highfield expire Dec. 31, and new officers will be chosen at the start of the Jan. 5 meeting.

At the same time, board member-elect Hugh M. Rea will assume a seat on the board. He succeeds James R. Hanawalt, who had decided not to seek re-election.

Monday's meeting was the last at which Hanawalt will serve and board members expressed their appreciation for his participation on the council. Hanawalt accepted an appointment to the board some 16 months ago when James Wilson, former president, resigned his post. He and his family moved outside the city district making him ineligible to serve.

Board member Fred L. Domenico commended Hanawalt for his input to the board. The retiring board member had raised several important questions for consideration, especially concerning financial matters. Hanawalt responded briefly, saying that he was grateful to have had the opportunity to serve. In addition to enjoying the experience, he said he had found it to be very educational. He said he was sure that what he had learned about the school system during his tenure on the board was of greater value than what he had contributed. There is the high degree of cooperation throughout the system and on the board itself which is essential to efficient operation of the schools, he concluded. He added after the meeting that other governing bodies in the community would do well to strive for a similar degree of internal cooperation.

SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGIST David Johnson addressed the board to explain his role in the school system. He began by noting that there is a misconception of his role in the minds of parents.

He indicated that many parents expect to find a couch in his office where children with problems may relax and have their "brains picked." Nothing could be farther from the truth, he explained.

Not only would such sessions be of limited value, Johnson said, but they are also highly impractical in a school system. He feels that by outlining general programs which can be implemented by the classroom teacher, he can use his time efficiently to help a much greater number of students.

He perceives his role as similar to a counselor's in that he attempts to identify children with problems and then either suggest programs to the classroom teacher or refer the child to a specialist for additional assistance.

Johnson feels that the greatest benefit to the student comes from making teachers and parents aware of the various types of handicaps experienced by students and helping them help the child.

A native of Cincinnati, Johnson completed his masters degree in the Cincinnati area and his one-year internship in the Hamilton city school system. He came to Washington C.H. at the beginning of the current school year.

The board approved the recommendations of superintendent Edwin M. Nestor concerning vacancies created by the retirement of Mrs. Jeanne Galloway, elementary librarian, and Mrs. Linda Edwards, home economics teacher.

Mrs. Peggy Pfeifer was transferred from a second grade classroom to the librarian's post, and Mrs. Sharon Shuller will transfer from Title I reading to the second grade class. Miss Barbara Owen, a graduate of Bowling Green State University, will be hired to teach Title I. Miss Linda Staley, a graduate of Ohio University, will be employed to teach home economics at Washington Senior High School. Both Mrs. Galloway and Mrs. Edwards are leaving the system because their husbands have been transferred to jobs in other areas.

Although Nestor requested permission to dismiss students one hour early Friday, Dec. 19, the board failed to approve the request. Nestor said that little is accomplished in the classroom during the last hour of school prior to a holiday. However, board members felt that dismissing school early would only cause students to "not accomplish" during the our preceding the early dismissal. A motion to allow the dismissal died for lack of a second, and school will be dismissed at the usual time on Friday.

Approval was given for the superintendent to replace the master clock of the Washington C.H. Middle School. The 40-year-old clock is in need of repair, and replacement parts cannot be obtained. Cost of a new clock which regulates the other clocks, ringing of classroom bells and is compatible with the present system, is $1,194.

IN OTHER action, the board:

—Approved use of a bus for six grade field trips to the Columbus Center of Science and Industry;

—Granted a request for a one-day release from contract for a Title I teacher at a loss of pay;

—Authorized the clerk to make year-end transfers of appropriated monies to balance individual accounts;

—Noted a substantial increase in the cost of medical coverage for employees, but saw no immediate hope of receiving a lower price from other companies;

—Authorized the clerk to use her own judgment in making interim investments of school funds;

—Approved reimbursement of teachers who had incurred expenses to professional meetings;

—Tabled action on a request from the Washington C.H. Jaycees for use of the Middle School gymnasium Jan. 31 for a wrestling exhibition;

—Employed a substitute teacher;

—Heard a report from the City Teachers Association that the organization is reviewing the effectiveness of educational programs in grades one through nine to determine deficiencies and offer recommendations; and —Approved the attendance of Washington Senior High School principal Fred A. Jones to participate in a three-day evaluation of the London High School curriculum March 15, 16 and 17.

Ohio youth task force set up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Youth Task Force, a group composed of youths who will study problems facing young people looking for jobs in Ohio, has been formed by the governor.

The task force, announced Monday, will review current employment trends in Ohio and identify job opportunities in business and industry for young people.

"This is the first time in Ohio that a task force has been formed entirely of young people to study the problems facing Ohio youth who are looking for jobs," said Gov. James A. Rhodes.

All the individuals appointed are under 21 and will work with the vocational education division in the state Department of Education. They include:

—Betty Barrow, a senior at Glenville High School in Cleveland, and a national finalist in the Junior Achievement for Vice President Personnel contest.

Class supper and party in Barrett home

The Home Builders Class of Madison Mills United Methodist Church assembled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrett for the annual Christmas carry-in supper. The home was beautifully decorated for the holiday season and members and guests were seated at tables for the meal preceding the meeting.

Mrs. Lester Haines, president, conducted the meeting and read the poems "Welcome" and "Christmas Comes." Mrs. Ethel Wilson presented inspiring devotions. Her theme was "Christmas Heart." The group sang Joy to the World and Mrs. Harold Messmer read from the Book of St. Luke; Mrs. Frank Barrett read "Christmas Heart," and Mrs. Wilson read "Success Story" "ready for Christmas" and "At Christmas," followed with carol singing by the group. Mrs. Dwight King was at the piano. The Rev. Mr. Messmer closed with prayer.

Mrs. Haines conducted the business meeting, when it was announced that Mrs. Barrett and Mrs. Haines will deliver fruit plates from the class Dec. 18. Cards were signed for various ones. Mrs. Barrett recited "The Night Before Christmas."

Mr. Kenneth Craig gave a brief talk pertaining to Christmas and his childhood school days that was most interesting. The highlight of the evening was the exchange of gifts around the lighted Christmas tree. Santa (in the person of Miss Vicki Vincent) gave out the gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Leland Dorn, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hidy, Mrs. Bess Seaman, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Grave Allemang, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight King, Rev. and Mrs. Messmer, Mr. and Mrs. Haines, and Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, the hosts, with guests, Miss Helen Crow, Mr. and Mrs. Craig and Miss Vincent.

Mrs. Speakman hostess at yule party

Mrs. Hazel Speakman entertained at the annual Christmas get-together for employees and their families of the House of Charm and Beau Monde beauty shops. She was assisted in the hospitalities by Mrs. Bill Briggs and Mrs. Gene Hatfield.

The buffet-style dinner was preceded by a social hour around the lighted punch bowl. Bill Briggs accompanied the group when they sang several Christmas carols. Various ones played the organ.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield, Miss Mary Hoover and Ray Tolle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bonner, Mrs. Charles Cottrell, Miss Jill Doyle and Dale Jennings, Miss Renee Satchell, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wilson, Miss Melissa Doyle, Mrs. Crystal Osborne, and special guests Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Speakman.

Lioness Club

The Bloomingburg Lioness Club members entertained their husbands at a dinner-party in the social rooms of the Leesburg Federal Savings and Loan recently. Each husband was presented with a humorous gift. They were entertained by four ladies who presented Oriental dancing.

All were seated at tables centered with red candles and Santas entwined with pine boughs. Favors of felt Santa faces were at each of the men's place settings. Door prizes were won by Jess Schlichter, Rex Bloomer and James Greene. Mrs. Willard Bitzer read a "Salute to Husbands" which she wrote. The dinner was catered by Miss Maxine Gilmerr. All brought items for a shower for the Cannon family, also.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Armintrout, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Armintrout, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Bloomer, Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carmen, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Denen, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Duff, Mr. and Mrs. James Greene;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Dale Horney, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mace, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Oberschlake, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rapp, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schiering, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Schlichter, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sollars, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilt, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Writsel, Mrs. Mary Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilt II, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wilt.

Lewis Realtors hosts at party

The Lewis Realtors and Insurors were hosts in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Friece in New Holland, for a holiday dinner-party, for their associates and wives or husbands. Upon arrival, all chatted around the punch bowl preceding the dinner.

Mr. Friece was presented "gag" gift, a miniature Blue Lion with original poem by Mrs. Ivan Saxon during the day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Friece, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Marstiller, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Saxton, Wayne Taylor, Miss Diane Blessing, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Seaman were unable to attend.

Visiting was enjoyed and the playing of cards.

Bride wears white lace gown for her own wedding Dec. 5

Miss Pam Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert E. Woods Sr., of Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, became the bride of Mike Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green of near Jamestown. The Rev. Richard Crabtree officiated for the double-ring ceremony in the Jeffersonville Church of Christ Dec. 5.

Randy Woods, vocalist, and Mrs. Roger Spahr, organist, presented a selection of nuptial music.

The bride wore a white lace gown with empire waist and Nehru collar, long full lace sleeves, and ruffled lace edged the neckline and French-cuffed sleeves. Her veil was caught to a lace cap and flowed into a long train trimmed with matching lace. She carried an arrangement of white pompons, carnations, baby's breath and red sweetheart roses, with white streamers.

Debbie Woods served as maid of honor for her sister. She wore a formal-length red velvet dress with empire waist and Nehru collar. White lace extended from the shoulder to the center in the front and back. The bridesmaids, Miss Audrey Smith and Miss Connie Elliott, both of Washington C.H. and Miss Cynthia Green, sister of the groom, wore gowns like that of the honor attendant, except in blue velvet. Each carried red roses.

Don Woods, brother of the bride, served as best man. Mike Duncan, cousin of the bride, Delbert Woods, another brother of the bride, and John Elliott, seated the wedding guests.

Mrs. Woods, the bride's mother, chose a long, light mint green dress with a corsage of white miniature carnations and yellow sweetheart roses, for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother wore a light blue formal-length dress and a corsage of pink roses.

Hostesses for the reception held in Fellowship Hall at the church were Mrs. Sheila Newlen, of Xenia, the groom's sister, Marsha Edgington and Elaine Hagler, cousins of the bride, and Linda Bjorn of Grove City.

The new Mrs. Green, a 1973 Miami Trace High School and Laurel Oaks Vocational Career School graduate, is employed at Orient State Institute. Her husband is employed by Fentons, Inc.

The couple is residing in Jeffersonville.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Home Restaurant, Jeffersonville, the evening prior to the wedding.

The Fayette Garden Club holds annual Christmas party

The beautifully decorated country home of Mrs. Edwin Thompson was the setting when members and guests of the Fayette Garden Club met for their Christmas party.

Mrs. Thompson, president, welcomed the 23 members and guests, as she opened the meeting with the poem "What is Christmas," followed with the group singing "Silent Night".

Devotions were then presented by Mrs. Ralph Scott, who read the Christmas story from the Book of Luke, also "Keeping Christmas" by Henry Van Dyke, following this with a Christmas prayer.

Reports were given by the secretary and treasurer and the Misses Jeanette and Josephine Roush announced they had completed the door swags for the main building and the cottages at the Fayette County Children's Home.

Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Fayette County Contact chairman, gave a brief report on the Presidents' Council meeting held December 13th, at which time plans for the Bicentennial and the County Fair Flower Show schedule were discussed and plans also made for future bus trips, open to all members of the Garden Clubs

Mrs. Thompson then introduced Mrs. Howard Perrill, who presented a most interesting program, taking as her topic "Legend of Christmas Traditions" using "Yuletide" as her theme, breaking down the word, letter by letter stating that the

Santa 'visits' WWClub children

A Christmas party for children of the members of the Welcome Wagon Club was held at the Washington Inn recently. The party began with the children singing carols accompanied by Mrs. Richard Glass at the piano.

Cookies and punch were served afterwards and Santa made a visit, with gifts and candy canes for each child.

Those attending the party were Mrs. Robert Munn and Brad, Mrs. Willis Geyer Jr. and Scott, Jimmie and Mendi, Mrs. Cheng-Haw Hung and children, Chen and Richmond, Mrs. John Woolam and Jennifer, Mrs. Steve Colburn and Teresa. Steve and Dan.

Mrs. Tom LeVan and Michael, Meredith and Jason, Mrs. Barry O'Brien and John, Dana, Joanne, and Steven, Mrs. Patrick Riley and Tim and Maureen, Mrs. Robert Yates and Amy and Matthew, Mrs. Larry Lawrie and Jamie Woods, Mrs. James McCracken and Chad, Mrs. Ronald Lott and Kristin, Mrs. Bill Autrey and Leah, Jill and Angela, Mrs. Robert Rine and Brian and Krista Mabry. Mrs. Fred Reading and Diana, Denise and Daniel, Miss Glenis McKinney and Mrs. Richard Glass, and Mrs. Thomas Ging and children, Tommy and Tracey.

Ladies Aid Society meets

The Buena Vista Ladies Aid Society meeting took place in the Buena Vista Town Hall. This was also the annual Christmas party and gift exchange.

Mrs. Bina O. Rude gave the invocation preceding the Christmas dinner which contained all the Christmas food with roast ham being the main dish. A Christmas tree cake was also baked by Mrs. Noah Lee.

Seven guests and members enjoyed a social hour. Guests were Mrs. Ocie Smith, Mrs. Carol Watts, Miss Mary Prudence Nilan, Mrs. Bessie Moots, Mrs. Gail Smart, Miss Lynnette Johnson and Perry Johnson.

Members present were Mrs. Edward Corzatt, Mrs. Irene Corzatt, Mrs. Noah Lee, Mrs. Harlan Johnson, Miss Norma Stephens, Mrs. Albert Haines, Mrs. Hazel Anders, Mrs. Virgil Hardman, Mrs. Nathaniel Blackstone, and Mrs. Bina O. Rude.

During the business session, Mrs. Anders read from the Book of St. John, and all repeated The Lord's Prayer. Members signed cheer cards for Mrs. Clarabelle Patton, Mrs. Homer Payton and John Dowler. The group is also giving cheer plates of fruit and candy to friends and also fruit to the Green Acres Nursing Home.

Mrs. Edward Corzatt closed by reading the poem, "Not Just for Christmas."

The McCook House on the square at Carrollton, Ohio, is a partial restoration of the home of the "Fighting McCooks" of Civil War fame.

Traffic Court

A Sabina man was found guilty on three traffic offenses by acting Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case during Monday's court proceedings.

Philip H. Pettit, 20, of Sabina, was fined $300 and court costs for driving while intoxicated and sentenced to serve four days in jail. Judge Case also fined Pettit $75 and court costs for driving while under license suspension and $25 and court costs for reckless operation. Pettit had been arrested and charged by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department Dec. 13, after being observed by a deputy to pass a car at a high rate of speed in the vicinity of the CCC Highway-W and Bush Road intersection.

Judge Case heard other traffic cases Monday and accepted a number of bond forfeitures.

Fined:
Harry C. Rife, 68, of 6769 Stafford Road, $25 and court costs for failing to yield right of way.

Robey G. Legge, 23, Fairborn, $25 and court costs for driving with expired license plates and $25 and court costs for speeding.

Robert E. Penwell, 51, of 734 John St., $50 and court costs for speeding.

Paul C. Mahler, 25, Columbus, $25 and court costs with driver's license revoked until payment is made for failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Bond forfeitures:
Joseph Chesbrough, 61, Mentor, $50, speeding.

Farm Bureau raps picketing bill

DES PLAINES, Ill. (AP) — The American Farm Bureau has come out strongly against federal legislation to legalize secondary boycotts at construction sites.

The Farm Bureau, nation's largest general farm organization, urged President Ford to veto the Common Sites picketing bill. It was passed by both the House and Senate last week.

In a telegram Monday to Ford, the organization's board of directors said the bill would increase construction costs and create monopoly situations at construction sites by forcing construction workers to join labor unions.

Prayer breakfast draws 91 persons

Ninety-one students and teachers were present for the final teen prayer breakfast of this school term Tuesday morning in the South Side Church of Christ.

"When I think of Christmas" was the topic the Rev. Charles J. Richmond used for the meditation time. A group of singers from the Maple Grove United Methodist Church sang several Christmas carols. Martin Putney, a junior at Washington Senior High School, offered prayer for the food.

After a breakfast of hotcakes, sausage, and milk, Carman Frogale, a teacher at Washington Senior High School, spoke on the subject, "If Christ had not Come." He concluded, "what a terrible world this would be without Christ's influence." He then dismissed the group with prayer.

Teen prayer breakfasts will resume Jan. 13 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, grades nine through twelve, are welcome to attend.

Batavia man fined on weapon transport count

Cases involving the illegal transport of a firearm, defrauding an innkeeper and disorderly conduct by intoxication were heard by acting Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case during Monday's court session.

Virgil J. Brown Jr., 25, Batavia, was fined $25 and court costs and sentenced to serve three days in jail with credit for time already served for illegal transport of a firearm, by Judge Case. Brown had been arrested by Washington C.H. police officers Dec. 12, in the 500 block of Leesburg Avenue when a loaded gun was discovered in his car.

Charles W. Everman, 33, Cleves, was fined $100 and court costs and sentenced to serve 10 days in jail with credit for time already served for defrauding an innkeeper, by Judge Case. The judge dropped the remainder of the jail sentence upon Everman's making restitution to the Days Inn Motel, I-72 and U.S. 35, within 24 hours. Everman was arrested by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies under a private warrant for owing over $200 for staying at the motel.

Ricky R. Bryan, of 721 Eastern Ave., was fined $50 and court costs by Judge Case after being found guilty of disorderly conduct by intoxication. The judge allowed $10 per day credit for Bryan's jail time previously served be put toward paying the fine.

Antioch sets drive for funds

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) Antioch College announced today a drive to raise $3.3 million over the next six months to create a "stabilization fund" backing cooperative education programs at the far flung institution.

Antioch officials said the college had already received a $1 million "challenge grant" from an alumnus who was not identified. Conditions of the grant require that a matching sum of $1 million in gifts or pledges must be raised by the end of next year, the officials said.

"Many private colleges have severe financial problems," Acting President Morris Keeton said in a statement announcing the fundraising campaign. "The cost of pioneering has been particularly intense at Antioch, but our capacity to innovate is intact and our commitment to educational experimentation remains firm."

Mari Sabusawa Michener, wife of author James Michener, and Edward J. Booher of McGraw Hill Inc., will serve as national co-chairmen of the drive, the statement said.

Antioch's work-study program requires all students to engage in field work in connection with their chosen courses.

In addition to the Yellow Springs campus with about 1,000 students, Antioch has a network of 24 other campuses in nine states, enrolling about 6,000 students. The Antioch School of Law in Washington D.C., was the first to provide clinical legal work for first year students.

Antioch College trustees removed Dr. James P. Dixon as president last June in a meeting in New York. He had served in the post for 16 years.

The Yellow Springs campus in southwestern Ohio was closed for 42 days in the spring of 1973 by a student strike over increased tuition.

Delay in payment to school employees studied by board

Certified and non-certified employees in the Miami Trace School District may have to wait until their regular scheduled Dec. 26 payday before receiving their checks this year, although in the past the Fayette County Board of Education has paid its employees the day before their Christmas vacation.

Superintendent Guy Foster discussed the problem during Monday night's board meeting and told board members the balance in the general fund stands at $8,521.06 as of Dec. 15.

Clerk Mrs. Martha Fleming, was absent from the meeting which usually meets on alternate Tuesdays but because of the Miami Trace-Circleville basketball game scheduled for Tuesday, the board met Monday evening. Board members officially appointed Superintendent Foster "temporary clerk" in Mrs. Fleming's place. He continued his discussion saying the state foundation program owes the school system the monthly check for December and a withholding amount of approximately $250,000 (before such things as the retirement fund is cut from that figure.)

The financial problem boils down to one question, when will this check come? Foster disclosed he had spoken with the state department and the auditor's office, but neither will commit themselves to a date. Foster stated it's against board ethics to write checks when the money cannot be accounted for and brought up the idea of borrowing the necessary sum if the check doesn't make it in time. It was disclosed that funds cannot be transferred and to borrow the money with no guarantee of repayment would be difficult also. Board members decided to schedule an emergency meeting at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 23, should the state foundation funding remain absent. Board members did approve the monthly financial statement since mistakes discovered during the last meeting had been corrected.

Next on the agenda was the approval of the county office bills. Approval was granted by the board after Foster explained there was enough money to cover them; however, approval of the local office bills was not given because of the previously discussed financial problem with the late foundation grant.

Assistant Superintendent Steve Yambor presented the elementary school statement which was approved by the board.

Employments, retirements, tuition students, transfer of funds, the new federal minimum wage law and other matters were also discussed.

Jessie Hosler was employed by the board in the place of Nancy Johnson, a teacher at Wayne Elementary School, effective Jan. 5, along with assistant bus drivers: David Dunaway and Richard Davis.

Eskel Blair, after 22 years of janitorial service, was granted retirement effective Jan. 1 by board members.

Karla Johnson was accepted by the board as a tuition student.

Board members approved the transfer of certain funds from unappropriated balance to specific codes.

The new federal minimum wage law, effective Jan. 1, establishes $2.20 per hour as base pay. Foster told board members only substitute cooks are paid below that figure. Their $2.05 per hour was moved to the newly set minimum wage of $2.20.

Field trips planned by science teacher Harold Gass prompted Miami Trace High School Principal, Curtis Fleischer, to request credit for the trips from board members. They allocated one-eighth credit for such trips or mini-courses.

The board decided to sign their group insurance over to the Washington National Insurance Co. providing the foundation grants come through. All employees under contract working a minimum of 20 hours per week will be included and the full policy will remain in effect until the employee reaches age 70, at which time the group policy could be elected by the employee to be converted into an individual policy (this program would be effective during resignation also).

Board members entered into executive session for 20 minutes to hear a student's request to re-enter Miami Trace School after being expelled Nov. 10 because of discipline problems. The board denied the request for readmittance this semester and encouraged Robinson to pursue his studies toward graduation through tutoring or correspondence courses. Robinson will have the opportunity to seek readmittance again at the beginning of the second semester.

The Miami Trace High School Athletic Association has improved the county track program by purchasing a "porta-pit" used in high-jump and pole-vaulting events. The cost of the unit was reported to the board to be $2,500.

Foster expressed his appreciation of the service provided by Wayne Baird during his eight years of being a county school board member. The Monday evening meeting was Baird's last since he did not seek re-election in November.

Yambor reported the 20-passenger mini-bus had been delivered to the school system.

Find no fraud in Indiana vote

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — The Monroe County Election Board has found no evidence of fraud in the November election here.

City Councilman Alfred Towell asked an investigation, saying candidates falsified expense and campaign contribution reports. He also charged that party workers with unofficial copies of eligible voter lists improperly discouraged some voters outside polls because their names were not on the lists.

Agnes Woolery, election board chairman, said Monday a 10-day investigation found no fraud or criminal intent to deprive anyone of the right to vote.

A Greenfield woman was injured in a two-car accident on Columbus Avenue in front of Fayette County Memorial Hospital at 12:55 p.m. Monday, city police reported today.

By county grand jurors

Drug sale, burglary defendants indicted

Five persons were indicted Friday by a Fayette County grand jury. The charges included two counts of possession of an hallucinogen for sale, aggravated burglary and receiving stolen property.

Those indicted were Robert M. George, 28, of 536 Comfort Lane; George E. Vinion Jr., 18, of 722 Peabody Ave.; Ralph D. Blake, 22, of Proctor, W. Va.; and Jack Stewart Jr., 24, of 328 Fountain Ave. The name of the fifth person indicted was not released due to problems which might be caused in apprehension.

George and Vinion were arrested Nov. 30 by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies for possession of marijuana for sale. The two were stopped in an automobile for a traffic violation, and Sgt. William Crooks and deputy Donald Cox discovered more than 21 ounces of marijuana in the vehicle. Both were cited for possession of the drug with the intent to sell.

Blake, who is being held in a West

Virginia jail on a Fayette County warrant as well as other charges, was indicted for aggravated burglary and aggravated menacing. He reportedly broke into the home of the Russell Martindale family, 8661 Prairie Rd., in mid-November and threatened the family at gunpoint.

He demanded that Carol Martindale, his ex-wife, return with him to West Virginia. Miss Martindale fled the residence, and Blake left. A warrant was filed, but Blake could not be located until he was recently arrested by West Virginia authorities.

Jack Stewart Jr. is charged with disposing of a toolbox and tools while having reason to believe that the items had been stolen. He was arrested Nov. 21 by Specialist Larry Walker of the Washington C.H. Police Department.

Seated on the grand jury were Raymond Anderson, Gale Webb, William B. Johnson, Marion Cockerill, Pauline Ryan, Michael E. Kelley, Debora J. Yoho and Marian B. Engle.

and released at the hospital. She had been a passenger in a car driven by Betty J. Curtis, 26, Greenfield, when the Curtis auto was involved in a collision with a second car driven by Harry C. Rife, 68, of 6769 Stafford Road. Police charged Rife with failure to yield the right of way.

Four other traffic mishaps were reported by Washington C.H. police today and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated three accidents in the county.

POLICE

MONDAY, 8:03 p.m. — A car driven by Jeff Place, 19, Staunton, struck the rear of an auto driven by Richard H. Sims, 22, of 1213 E. Paint St., at the intersection of Columbus Avenue and Blackstone Street, knocking the Sims auto into a car driven by Jay E. Mossbarger, 19, Bloomington. Police cited Place for failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead. Neither of the drivers was injured.

4:35 p.m. — An accident involving cars driven by Leora E. Burdge, 17, New Holland, and Daniel J. Griffith, 32, of 2555 U.S. 62-SW, occurred on W. Court Street in front of the Super Par Service station. Griffith was charged by police for failing to yield right of way.

3:38 p.m. — Cars driven by James O. Knisley, 17, of 651 Perdue Plaza, and Edith E. West, 57, of 333 Florence St., were involved in an accident on W. Court Street in front of Kaufman's clothing store. Police reported no citations issued and minor damage to both autos.

11:55 a.m. — A car driven by Walter A. Wilson, 80, of 918 S. Fayette St., backed into a parked car belonging to Raymond Kuebler, Bush Road, in the municipal parking lot on S. Fayette Street.

SHERIFF

MONDAY, 7 p.m. — A car driven by Nick L. Haynes, 19, of 7431 Robinson Road, struck a tree limb and brush which had fallen from a truck on Robinson Road, three-tenths of a mile northwest of Cisco Road. Damage was minor.

10:25 p.m. — A car driven by Robert J. Fultz, 21, Jeffersonville, was severely damaged when Fultz failed to negotiate a right curve on Ohio 41-N, six-tenths of a mile north of Inskeep Road and struck a roadside ditch, tree and fence belonging to Noah E. Parretti, 7167 Ohio 41-N. Fultz told deputies he had fallen asleep at the wheel.

1:30 p.m. — An accident at the intersection of N. North Street and Peddicord Avenue involved cars driven by William D. Smedley, 56, Sabina, and John W. Briggs, 75, of 331 Western Ave. Briggs was charged by deputies with making an improper turn.

Arrests

SHERIFF

MONDAY — John W. Briggs, 75, of 331 Western Ave., improper turn; James W. Everman, 33, Cleves, warrant for contempt of court; Robert J. Fultz, 21, Jeffersonville, failure to drive on the right half of the roadway.

POLICE

MONDAY — Harry C. Rife, 68, of 6769 Stafford Road, failure to yield right of way; Dorothy M. Hecox, 55, Cookeville, Tenn., bench warrant; Jeff Place, 19, Staunton, failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead; Daniel J. Griffith, 32, of 2555 U.S. 62-SW, failure to yield right of way; Charles H. Creech, 24, of 611 E. Market St., private warrant for disorderly conduct; Rocky A. McLain, 24, of 10279 Post Road, insufficient lights.

Monthly court report released

Collections and disbursements totaled $16,597.07 for Washington C.H. Municipal Court during the month of November.

Collections on highway patrol fines were the highest total amounting to $5,122 and next were collections on city case fines, $5,020.50. Following were collections on state case fines, $2,351.50 and state case costs, $2,216.50. The villages of Bloomington and Jeffersonville took in $174; and liquor control, $75 and the division of narcotics, $335.

The greatest amount in disbursements was received by the city of Washington, $10,263.55. Next was the treasurer of Fayette County, $2,994. An amount of $2,304.90 was received by the treasurer of the state and the combined villages of Jeffersonville and Bloomington received from the disbursements a total of $184. The departments of liquor control and narcotics were disbursed in the same amount as collected.

Rescind order on records ban

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — State police Supt. Robert DeBard has agreed to rescind his order barring reporters and others access to arrest records, a top governor's aide said Monday.

On Friday, James A. Smith, who handles state police affairs for Gov. Otis R. Bowen, promised the rule would be changed.

Similar rules have been issued by the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). States do not have to comply, but stand to lose federal anti-crime aid if they do not adopt the regulations.

Obstruction of justice defendant pleads guilty

Jurors were dismissed shortly after their arrival in Fayette County Common Pleas Court Monday morning when the defendant scheduled for trial pleaded guilty to a reduced charge.

Gary A. Frye, 21, of 710 E. Paint St., was scheduled to stand trial for felonious obstruction of justice, but he pleaded guilty to obstruction under a misdemeanor section of the Ohio Revised Code.

A pre-sentence investigation was requested by Frye's defense attorney, and sentencing was postponed until a later date.

The youth had been arrested July 3 for obstructing Washington C.H. police officers in their attempt to arrest Calvin M. Justice of Xenia on a drug sale charge. Indicted for sale of marijuana in late June, Justice had been sought by city police for service of a warrant.

Acting on a tip from a local merchant, Police Specialists Larry Hott and Larry Walker questioned Frye at his home as to Justice's whereabouts. Frye said he had not seen Justice, nor did he know where he might be.

A few minutes later, Justice was found hiding on the floorboard of Frye's auto at the residence. Since Justice was being sought for a felony charge, the obstruction of justice charge against Frye was a felony.

The merchant who contacted police officers said he had just cashed a check for Justice who was in the company of another young man. The police were also provided with a description of the vehicle in which the two left the store. The description matched Frye's car.

Property destruction, larceny cases probed

An incident of malicious destruction and three larcenies were reported by the Washington C.H. Police Department today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported one larceny and a prisoner transport.

The windshields of two cars belonging to Norman R. Moore Sr., 514 Gregg St., were shot out with BB guns the night of Dec. 13, city police reported today. Damage was estimated at $300.

An auto transmission, torque converter and bell housing were stolen from a garage located at 901 Washington Ave., sometime between 2 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Monday. The missing articles, belonging to Wayne L. Roberts, 1010 Willard St., were valued at $100.

A citizens band radio owned by Harry Shaw was stolen from his truck sometime between 5 p.m. Monday and early Tuesday morning while the vehicle was parked at his 465 Carolyn Road residence. Police reported the radio was worth $140.

A second citizens band radio and a combination eight-track-FM radio valued at $400 were stolen from an auto belonging to Eleanor Six, 8 Heritage Court sometime between midnight Monday and 6:30 a.m. Tuesday. Police stated the theft occurred while the auto was parked in front of the Six residence.

Eleven traps belonging to Maurus G. Molloy, 229 Hickory Lane, were stolen sometime between 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Monday from the vicinity of Washington-Waterloo Road, Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported.

David M. Creech was taken to the Mansfield Reformatory by Fayette County Sheriff's Auxiliary Deputy Paul J. Ream and jailer-dispatcher Dale Butler at 10:30 a.m. Monday to begin serving a sentence handed down by the Common Pleas Court.

Amendment said best way to freeze real estate tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has been advised that the most stable way to freeze property tax increases not approved by voters would be through an amendment to the Ohio Constitution.

Rhodes has called for a freeze in property taxes which under present law can be increased as a result of fluctuations in property assessments.

Charles S. Lopeman, chairman of the Board of Tax Appeals, told the governor Monday that if such an amendment is proposed, it should not seek to apply the freeze until after the completion of county-by-county reappraisals due to be finished at the end of 1977.

"An amendment which attempted to freeze assessed values prior to the completion of this process would raise serious questions of its constitutionality under the United States Constitution," Lopeman said in a letter to the governor.

The court-ordered property reappraisals have resulted in statewide tax-increases over the past six year totaling more than $1.25 billion, the governor said.

The governor doesn't want to change the system through which property taxes—all of which are assessed at the local level—can be increased through a vote of the people, he stressed.

The tax board chairman said he considered possible alternatives to a constitutional amendment to bring about the effect asked by Rhodes, but found them to have disqualifying drawbacks.

They included the adoption of new rules by the Board of Tax Appeals and the passage of enabling legislation. Lopeman said either of those would be effected "by the lack of stability" since either way, a set of rules adopted by the board could be amended by the legislature, or visa versa.

Another disadvantage of the ruled out alternatives, Lopeman's letter said, is that the new rules would have to be "very extensive and would have to affect rules and statutes which are unrelated to the problem for which you seek a solution."

Geauga County, Ohio, formed in 1805, takes its name from the Indian word for "raccoon."

Dear Santa,
I can't write very good so Mommy is writing this for me.
My name is Jeffery Shipley. I am four fingers old. I have been real good this year and was good at Granma's house while Mommy was in the hospital. I don't tear up my toys like other kids do. I dust for Mommy, and dry dishes, and make my bed.
I would like to have a Bright Light. I like you Santa, and I love Jesus. You can bring me if you have room some cars and a big-oh-truck, and a case to put my cars in. And whatever you can bring me I like.
Artie and Bryan aren't very good for Mommy, but bring them something anyway - some ashes wrapped up.
Bring my daddy a real truck and long underwear to wear to check his traps. He gets cold.
That's all I want. We'll leave some cookies and milk for you. My house is the one with the Christmas tree in the window. We will leave the lights on. I will be asleep when you come so don't be afraid. Our dog Bingo will be asleep too. He knows he will get something if he is asleep. He won't bite. He really wouldn't bite you.

Bye Santa Clause
Jeffery Shipley
New Holland
P.S. I still have all my toys from last year. I don't tear them up.
Dear Santa,
How are you doing? With Rudolph, Dash and them guys? I want a racing track, electric train track, cars, Evel Knievel, Smash up Derby, airplanes, cat (real one). Tell Mrs. Claus I liked her in the show. That's all.

Man's conviction reversed in airplane boarding arrest

CINCINNATI (AP)—An Ironwood, Mich., man, arrested at Greater Cincinnati Airport in 1973 while attempting to board a commercial airline with a military training device that simulates artillery fire, had a second of two convictions reversed Monday by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The three-judge appellate panel reversed the earlier conviction of William Thomas Dalpiaz, then 20, who was charged with attempting to board an airplane in possession with a concealed and deadly weapon.

The court based its reversal on the fact that the ground burst projectile simulator is not considered an explosive weapon under the National Firearms Act.

The device simulates incoming artillery fire and exposes infantry troops to the accompanying sound effects. The government contended the simulator was "a destructive device."

Dalpiaz was the first person arrested at Greater Cincinnati Airport after electronic search equipment was installed to check passengers for weapons.

However, the court earlier convicted the young artist of boarding the plane with a concealed and dangerous weapon, the projectile, and a jackknife.

Gregory Wehrmann, defense attorney, had argued that trial on two charges involving the same weapon was double jeopardy. The appellate court ignored that argument, however.

Dalpiaz was arrested by airport security officers after the newly installed equipment indicated three times that Dalpiaz had metal objects on his person. A search turned up bullets for a pistol, which he had surrendered, the knife, a cigarette case and the nonmetallic ground burst device containing a slight explosive charge.

Dalpiaz served part of a one-year term on the first conviction. He was sentenced to a concurrent three-month term on the second conviction, which was reversed.

Five days of rains beginning on Easter brought on Ohio's disastrous 1913 floods in which 363 persons died. Dayton was hardest hit, but Middletown, Hamilton, Cincinnati and Columbus also suffered enormous losses. The floods were statewide.

Port of Toledo tonnage higher

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Port of Toledo closes its overseas shipping season Thursday with tonnages well ahead of last year, the Toledo-Lucas County Port Authority says.

Seaport Director Frank Miller said the port handled 203 ocean ships compared to 142 last year.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "One Day at a Time," producer Norman Lear's newest situation comedy, is arriving on CBS tonight. It's about a divorced mother raising two teen-aged daughters in Indianapolis, Ind. I had fears it was going to be another "Oh, Mother" sitcom. You know the kind. Mother says something uncool and her daughter whines, "Oh, Mother."

Not here, though. This is the sort of series in which Mom is 34 and her boyfriend is 26. He wants to marry her, too. He's also the lawyer who represented her in her recent divorce.

Bonnie Franklin and Richard Masur are fine as Mom and boyfriend, ditto Pat Harrington as Mom's lecherous building superintendent. MacKenzie Phillips and Valerie Bertinelli, respectively cast as the older and younger daughters, should go back to acting school.

So much for the cast. The plot of tonight's opening show concerns Mom's Big Crisis, which in the 1950s would have been a burnt roast the night hubby brought the boss home to dinner.

Here it's a request by the older daughter to go on an unchaperoned camping trip with five high school chums — two girls and three guys.

"You don't have to worry about my mother," the daughter tells one of the girls in a phone chat. "She's a liberated woman."

Wrong. Mom turns down the request, even though daughter says, "These boys are mature. They're seniors." Daughter then gets mad and sarcastically asks if Mom wants her to wear a chastity belt.

"If there's a sale on one, we'll get it!" Mom retorts.

Exit daughter, enter Harrington, who not only is a lecherous building superintendent, he also is a married one. (Everyone stand up and say "Wow," now.) He ostensibly has come by to fix a stuck window.

But not really. "After all," he leers, "you are a woman of the divorced persuasion. So go ahead and use me...." He gets the boot.

After that, the lawyer-boyfriend calls for some chat and sees the oldest daughter threaten to go live with her father if Mom won't let her go camping. Mom won't, and off she goes.

And after that, Harrington reenters. Upon seeing Mom's young boyfriend, he cockily asks, "Why settle for a tricycle when" — and he points at himself — "Kawasaki makes the good times roll."

The good times rarely roll in tonight's show, but don't blame the adult actors. Blame the writers. They've come up with a turkey that gobbles up a half hour of valuable air time.

Yule wants known by brand names

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer

Kids know what they want for Christmas, precisely — by brand name and price, Santa Claus says.

Department store Santas, interviewed in 10 cities across the country, said boys this year are asking for Evel Knievel stunt cycles and action dolls — the Six Million Dollar Man and others of the G.I. Joe-type.

Girls want dolls that walk, dolls that talk, dolls that do other things, and pizza ovens.

Ten-speed bikes, Star Trek kits and walkie-talkies are popular. Baby That-a-Way, a doll that crawls, leads the doll parade. And there are more requests for electric trains than in recent years, the Santas said, and fewer requests for toy guns.

But the thing the Santas most consistently reported was the increasing tendency of young believers to ask for particular toys by brand name. They cite advertising as a major influence, and note also that children seem to be more aware of the price of toys.

"About every fifth boy asks for the Six Million Dollar Man," said Edward Sullivan, Santa at a shopping center in suburban Boston. "Whatever is heavily advertised on TV is what they ask for. They come up knowing exactly what they want, the brand names."

"I can tell just what toys are being pushed hard by advertising agencies because the kids name them by brand name," a St. Louis Santa Claus added.

Most kids ask for three of four things, the Santas said.

"They will come in with their things all written out and even have the prices beside it," said Booker Lucas, in his fifth year as Santa Claus at a downtown department store in Columbus, Ohio.

"They still believe in Santa Claus. They try to help out how they can — by bringing in the ads and telling Santa how much it's going to cost," said Lucas.

There are, of course, the unusual requests — giraffes, encyclopedias, house boats and ants.

"A little boy came up and said he wanted a switch blade and a gun. Finally he agreed he'd settle for a play gun and an Evel Knievel stunt cycle," said John Youngblood, a New Orleans Santa.

Army locks, dams harm farm areas

CANNELTON, Ind. (AP) — Farmer Jim Cole of Leavenworth, Ind., has watched the Ohio River eat away at his farm ever since Army Corps of Engineers locks and dams transformed the stream into a series of wide, easily navigable pools.

He and other landowners along the Ohio's 981 miles have watched acre after acre of their banks and cropland crumble and wash away since the corps built the series of dams under the 1909 River and Harbors Act.

With the dams, the corps built locks 1,200 feet long and 110 feet wide, making the Ohio navigable by bigger and faster tows. The corps says the ultimate winner is the consumer, who gets jobs and pays less for commodities because of the economical barge transport.

But Cole and other riverside farmers aren't winning.

"My family has lost 50 acres or more to the river in the past 50 years and I see no signs of it slowing down," Cole said. "In fact it seems like it's going to get worse."

Modernization of the Ohio started as a $2.3 billion effort, but the final cost may not be known for years.

Congress has appropriated $1.7 million to save streets and property in Newburgh, Ind., a town under attack by the widening Ohio. The corps plans to provide Clarksville, Ind., more than $1 million for river damage to one of its streets.

And a $140 million class-action suit is pending against the federal government for alleged damage to property from Louisville downriver to Uniontown, Ky.

Byrd retains scoring lead despite 8-point performance

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald Sports Editor
Despite being held to just eight points in Friday's SCOL matchup with Greenfield McClain, Washington C.H.'s surehanded guard Chuck Byrd still holds the league lead in overall scoring average.

An illness in the Hurricane's last outing, but he did see some action and failed to score which took a huge cut out of his scoring average.

Byrd is tossing the ball through the hoop at a 20.3-points per game pace as he goes for his second straight SCOL scoring title.

His eight point total in the Blue Lions last game dropped his average from 26.5 to 20.3 overall and in the league. It was also the first time Byrd has failed to hit in double figures since the season-ending loss to Waverly in 1974 which knocked the SCOL champion Blue Lions from post-season tournament play.

Last season the sharpshooting Byrd's lowest point total was 10 markers and oddly enough it was against Greenfield McClain in December.

Byrd finished out the season strong last year averaging over 19 points a game and earning first team all-league honors.

Hillsboro's Tim Fuller has been the most consistent scorer in the league to date. The junior forward is averaging 20 points a game and contest to move into second place in the scoring race.

Fuller has scored 17, 18, 25 and 20 points in the Indians four outings.

Byrd's teammate, Doug Phillips, also could only manage eight points Friday night. The Blue Lion forward fell from third to eighth in the scoring race.

Following Byrd, Fuller and Berlin at the top of the scoring list are Circleville's Biff Bumgarner, Fuller's teammate Rick Seeling, and Miami Trace's Alan Conner. All are scoring at an 18.8 clip.

The only player to drop from last week's scoring list for players who average in double figures, was McClain's Chris Nelson.

One player, Miami Trace's Rod Garring, joined the list. He tossed in 20 points in the Panther's 83-64 romp over Hillsboro and he is now averaging 11.5 points overall and 14-points in the league after getting off to a slow start.

Four Madison Plains cagers are still on the list giving the golden Eagles the most players in the league averaging in double figures.

Other Fayette County players mentioned are Court House's John Denen and Trace's Dan Gifford.

BYRD FLYING HIGH — Washington C.H.'s Chuck Byrd scores an easy layup in the SCOL preview against Miami Trace. Byrd is leading the league's top scorers in point average, but an eight-point output in the last Blue Lion outing was his lowest single-game total in two years.

Sports briefs

OU student sues for basketball spot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Morris Udall, R-Ariz., has joined an Ohio University freshman's effort to win back a spot on the junior varsity basketball team.

A spokesman for the American Civil Liberties Union said Udall filed an affidavit in federal court here on behalf of Mike Borden, 18, who was cut from the squad when school officials learned he had lost his right eye in a childhood accident.

Borden filed the suit with the help of the ACLU in U.S. District Court on Monday.

Clay Carroll deal said progressing

CINCINNATI (AP) — An attorney for veteran righthand reliever Clay Carroll said Monday that some progress has been made toward completing a deal which would send the durable Cincinnati Reds reliever to the Chicago White Sox.

Jerry Kapstein said discussions with White Sox General Manager Roland Hemond have been fruitful.

Carroll, who holds Cincinnati's club record for pitching in the most games, is reportedly seeking a multiyear contract at over $100,000 a year.

Snyder succeeds Vern Rapp

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, moving to fill the loss of their top minor league manager, named Jim Snyder to replace Vern Rapp at Indianapolis and appointed Roy Majtyka manager of the Three Rivers club in the Class AA Eastern League.

Rapp, who had been credited with the development of many of the Reds younger players, quit to join the Montreal Expos farm system as manager of the Denver Bears.

Marge's Pick winner

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Marge's Pick cut to the outside and pulled away to a four-length victory in the featured race at Latonia Monday night.

The winner went the mile in 1:22 3-5 and returned $10.40, $6.20 and $4.00. Notsolaka paid $7.20 and $3.40 for second. Brustigert showed at $2.80.

The daily double of Pennsylvania Rose and Blazed Ebony, 9-10, returned $77.20.

A crowd of 3,703 wagered $463,590.

Sammy Way victor

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Sammy Way nipped Canadian K at the wire in a photo finish to win the featured race at Lebanon Monday night.

The winner went the mile in 2:11 4-5 to return $7.20, $3.00 and $2.80. Canadian K paid $4.40 and $4.60. Kat's Brother was the show horse at $6.00.

The daily double combination of Justly Time and Flinger, 2-7, returned $80.80.

A crowd of 1,096 wagered $85,737.

Belated Namath entrance fails to prevent Chargers win

By GREG GROSS
AP Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets was punished from starting against the San Diego Chargers for missing a weekend curfew.

But his belated entrance in the second quarter entry did little to affect the final outcome of the nationally televised contest.

After dropping 11 National Football League games in a row, the Chargers won their second straight Monday night, beating the Jets 24-16.

Running backs Rickey Young, Tony Baker and Bo Matthews each scored on short touchdown runs and Young rushed for 111 yards in 21 carries, his second consecutive 100-yard game.

Steve Davis and John Riggins scored on one-yard plunges for the Jets and Riggins moved to within 67 yards of a 1,000-yard season.

But all that was overshadowed by the 20-minute, 29-second absence of Broadway Joe, which was Coach Ken Shipp's way of punishing Namath for staying out past the 11 p.m. Sunday curfew.

A crowd of 52,446 San Diego fans booed bitterly when young J.J. Jones opened at quarterback instead of Namath. Jones completed only one of five passes for 13 yards and was intercepted once before Namath finally made his appearance with 9:31 left in the second period.

Namath took the field to a thunderous ovation, but the Jets were already behind 7-3. They never caught up.

Afterward, a contrite, disheartened Namath took the blame for what had happened.

"It's no one's fault but my own," he said.

Namath completed 15 of 29 passes for 181 yards, but was outshone by San Diego quarterbacks Dan Fouts and Jesse Freitas, who combined for eight completions in 16 tries for 109 yards and kept scoring drives alive with clutch passes.

The Chargers scored on the first possession of the game, driving 68 yards in eight plays. Fouts scrambled for 20 yards, then hit wide receiver Gary Garrison for 23 yards to the Jets four yard-line, from where Baker ran it in on the next play.

After Pat Leahy kicked a 20-yard field goal for New York, Godwin Turk was penalized for running into Charger punter Dennis Partee, giving San Diego the ball on its own 36.

Fouts hit Pat Curran on a 33-yard passing play, then hooked up with Garrison for 12 more. A nine-yard Baker run put the ball on the Jets two, from where Young dived over the middle for a score to give the Chargers a 14-3 lead at halftime.

Namath led the Jets back in the third quarter, setting up Davis' scoring drive with passes of 29 yards to Carl Garrett and 21 and 16 yards to Jerome Barkum.

But after Fouts went out with a sprained neck in the third quarter, Freitas came in to guide the Chargers to their final 10 points of the game.

Circleville defeats Panther cagers

CIRCLEVILLE—The Miami Trace freshmen dropped their fourth straight contest of the year Monday at the hands of the Circleville cage team.

The Panthers grabbed a 26-22 half-time lead and widened that margin to 30-22 in the opening minutes of the third quarter. However, the Trace freshmen turned cold and could score only five more points the rest of the way as Circleville put 19 points on the board to take a 42-35 victory.

Mark Dunn scored 15 points and John Persinger added 10 for the Panthers.

Wildcats take Indiana into overtime

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "Wasn't that a super game?" one fan asked another.

"It sure was," came the replay, "for 40 minutes."

That, in a nutshell, described top-ranked Indiana's pulsating 77-68 overtime triumph over Kentucky Monday night.

Kentucky, which twice came from behind against the unbeaten Hoosiers, held a 62-58 lead with 1:45 left in regulation play. But Indiana rallied on Scott May's two baskets and a fluke tip-in by Kent Benson to tie it 64-64 and force an overtime period.

Given another life, Indiana coolly scored eight straight points to settle the issue, raise its record to 4-0 for the season and avenge their only loss of last season, a 92-90 defeat at the hands

Hoosiers atop cage rankings

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Indiana, which avenged its only loss of last season by beating Kentucky 77-68 in overtime Monday night at Louisville, barely missed being a unanimous choice for the top spot in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll.

The Hoosiers were rated No. 1 by all but one of the 60 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in this week's poll, based on games played through Sunday, Dec. 14. The only other first-place vote went to Marquette, and Indiana was rated second on that ballot.

That gave the Hoosiers, 3-0 through the period of the voting, 1,198 of a possible 1,200 points and first place by a wide margin over Maryland, 5-0, which garnered 1,016 points. Marquette, 3-0, was next with 882 points and North Carolina, 4-0, was fourth with 718.

Those four retained the positions they held last week, but the No. 5 spot went to Notre Dame, which climbed three notches after battling Indiana down to the wire before losing 63-60 last Thursday. Notre Dame, which also had a 72-64 victory over Kansas and a 103-73 rout of St. Francis, Pa., last week, collected 644 points.

UCLA, 2-1 and idle last week, dropped one spot to sixth with 565 points. Cincinnati, 6-0 after beating Biscayne and Bowling Green last week, climbed two rungs to seventh with 478 points.

Alabama, 4-0, moved up from 11th to eighth with 421 points; North Carolina State, 4-0, jumped from 13th to ninth with 264 points, and Louisville, 3-1, fell from sixth to 10th with 255 points after a 78-76 loss to DePaul.

Tennessee, 4-1, seventh last week, dropped down to 11th with 245 points after losing to St. John's, N.Y., 79-70 last week. The Vols were followed by Washington, 5-0, 188 points; Nevada-Las Vegas, 5-0, 187; San Francisco, 5-1, 165; Rutgers, 6-0, 131; Michigan, 3-1, 124; Auburn, 3-0, 94; St. John's, 6-0, 89; Arizona State, 5-0, 87, and Kentucky, 2-2, 44.

The only newcomers to the Top Twenty were Rutgers and St. John's, replacing Arizona and Missouri on the list.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press weekly college basketball poll with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through games of Sunday Dec. 7 and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. Indiana (59)	3-0	1,198
2. Maryland	5-0	1,016
3. Marquette (1)	3-0	882
4. N. Carolina	4-0	718
5. Notre Dame	5-1	644
6. UCLA	2-1	565
7. Cincinnati	6-0	478
8. Alabama	4-0	421

Cold three quarters
ruin Blue Lion frosh

WILMINGTON--The Washington C.H. freshmen cagers hit a cold streak in the final three quarters and dropped a, 37-16, decision to Wilmington Monday night.

The Blue Lion yearlings trailed 12-10 after the first period, but could manage only one basket in each of the following quarters.

The freshman shot a cold 18 per cent from the field and committed 25 turnovers to the Hurricane which was led by overpowering, 6-2 postman Bob Williams.

Swick, Suggs top
MAC players

of the Wildcats in last year's NCAA Midwest Regional championship game.

"If we don't develop character with this, we'll never develop it," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "This just shows there are a lot of good teams in the country, and we played one of them tonight."

In the only other game involving a Top Twenty team, Richard Washington scored 28 points to lead No. 6 UCLA past San Diego State 101-86 for the Bruins' 84th consecutive home court victory.

Kentucky, despite its No. 20 ranking, had struggled to a 2-2 record, and many felt the youthful club was in for a long rebuilding season.

Surprisingly, at least to Indiana partisans among the roaring crowd of 16,615, Kentucky didn't wilt when the Hoosiers built an early lead of 21-9. Kentucky battled back, reeling off the final eight points of the half to pull to within 34-32.

Indiana rolled to a 52-45 advantage midway through the second half, but again Kentucky came back, this time to lead 62-58.

But May, who shared scoring honors with Benson with 27 points, hit two medium range baskets to tie the game. After Kentucky's Rick Robey scored with 30 seconds left, Indiana got the break of the game when a leaping Benson glanced a loose ball with an outstretched hand and it went in for the tying score with just nine seconds to play.

In the overtime, it was all Indiana.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gene Swick of Toledo and Shafer Suggs of Ball State are the Mid-American Football Players of the Year and Dave McClain of Ball State the Conference Coach of the Year.

Mid-American Commissioner Fred Jacoby announced today all three won by top-side margins in balloting by the MAC's News Media Association.

Swick, the nation's all-time yardage gainer, scored the widest victory, being named on 52 of 60 votes cast for Offensive Player of the Year. The senior quarterback was a co-choice on another ballot.

Suggs, a cornerback coveted by the pros, was a 21-6 choice over Ohio University middle guard Rod Day for the Defensive Player of the Year.

McClain earned a 37-16 margin over title-winning Dick Crum of Miami (Ohio) in the coaches' race.

McClain guided Ball State to a 9-2 overall record and 4-2 mark in the conference for a tie for third place. The Cardinals, in their first season in MAC football, had been picked for last place.

It was on defense where sports writers and broadcasters faced their most difficult position with 17 players mentioned at least once. Miami end Mel Edwards collected five votes and Bowling Green's Art Thompson and Northern Illinois' Bob Gregolunas four apiece.

Also named on offensive ballots were Miami's Rob Carpenter and Steve Studer of Bowling Green.

Swick, expected to be a first round pro draft choice, owns every conference career and single season total offense and passing record as well as two national offense marks.

The 6-1, 188-pound passing whiz from Hebron, Ohio, was third team All-American and finished 10th in the Heisman Trophy voting for college football's No. 1 performer this fall.

Rules for Visiting Hospital Patients

My husband is in the hospital trying to recover from an operation. I say "trying" because he is exhausted from the constant stream of well-wishers who visit without asking first and who don't know that a short visit is a considerate visit.

Mrs. B. H. R., Calif.

Dear Mrs. R.:

Your letter must surely reflect the feelings of almost every hospitalized patient. Of course, it is the patient in the private room who suffers the most in this respect because visiting hours are so liberal that some patients barely have a "breather" all day long.

It is difficult to understand why most people seem to feel that the moment they hear that a friend is hospitalized they must dash to the bedside of the patient.

Even before they ask the family the nature of the illness they ask, "When can I come and visit?" Many times the family would like to say, "When he comes home to recuperate." But who dares offend the well-meaning friend?

One patient told me that an earnest little man, a total stranger, walked into her hospital room, sat down and spent the afternoon. He left only when he realized she was not the patient he was "assigned" to visit. He was the official "bed-sitter" of a charitable organization.

I agree with you. There should be some basic ground rules about hospital visiting.

1) Never go to visit before talking to a member of the family. Make sure that the patient would really benefit by having visitors. If there is a doubt, be kind enough to stay away.

2) Check on the best time to visit and the exact number of minutes it is advisable to stay. Remember that even five minutes can sometimes be too much.

3) If there are other visitors when you arrive step out until the others leave. They will leave sooner if someone is waiting.

4) Resist coaxing by the patient to "stay a little longer." Some patients will say this out of sheer politeness, no matter how much they like you.

5) Be conscious of the strain on an ill or convalescing patient when they are thrust into the role of host or hostess.

6) If there are two visitors, both should sit at the same side of the bed. It is tiring for the patient to turn constantly from one side to the other.

7) Get your daily "report" from a member of the family. Don't phone the patient.

8) Give some thought to the advantages to the patient of receiving a lovely note or card rather than an exhausting visit.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism: A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. ## Extortion admitted

CINCINNATI (AP) — A teamsters official pleaded guilty Monday to federal charges that he extorted $2,500 from the owner of a company which the union struck.

James "Shoe" McNicholas, 44, a business agent for Teamsters Local 100, was arrested Oct. 29 by the FBI in a suburban motel parking lot after he allegedly received $2,500 in $20 bills from Albert E. Grogan, owner of the Continental Mineral Processing Company.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ralph Winkler told Judge Timothy Hogan that McNicholas promised Grogan that in return for $2,500, Grogan "would have no further union problems."

After pleading guilty, McNicholas was released on $10,000 bond pending a presentencing investigation. He could face a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Ellen Spencer Mussey, 1850-1936, born in Geneva, Ohio, became the first woman to be named dean of a law school.

The more we see of Santa, the more we're convinced he knows what he's doing. There'll be lots of happy shutterbugs on Christmas day, judging from what we've seen of the early shopping. Lots of Kodak Pocket Instamatic cameras will be flashing up a storm around the tree, and the Polaroid SX-70, all three models, will be picturing the Christmas joy and holiday feasts. Flash? Honeywell Strobonars are all over Santa's lists this year. From the Model 105 through the Auto-Strobonars to the big pro units, the holidays will be well lighted.

Slide and movie projectors will be resting under many trees this year. And for the advanced photographers there will be new Pentax cameras. And for the darkroom buff it's CIBACHROME FOR CHRISTMAS. People are having lots of fun making their own color prints from their color slides right in their own darkroom by the Cibachrome process. Easy? Ask Osgood.

Santa has also found that photographic books make great stocking-stuffers. Film and flashbulbs are great for the stocking. And Santa hasn't forgotten about camera cases and gadget bags, and projection screens, and slide sorters. He's thought of everything. Are you that far along with your shopping?

Opening lead - six of spades.

In most deals declarer's main objective is to make the contract. In attempting to meet this goal, he should not allow himself to be diverted by other factors that may arise in the course of the play.

Consider this case where declarer might easily go wrong. West leads a spade to dummy's ace and the question is how to play the hand.

Let's say South leads a diamond from dummy, attempting to establish his longest suit. East goes up with the king and returns a low spade through South's K-J. It does not matter whether declarer finesesses or not; in either case the defenders' spades become established before dummy's diamonds.

If declarer now attempts to make the hand by leading a club to the king and a club back, planning to finesse, he learns soon enough that West has the queen. The best South can do at this point is concede down one.

The result is the same if declarer, at trick two, starts out by playing the king and another club. There is now no way he can negotiate a ninth trick.

Yet there is a sure way to make the contract. South starts with eight tricks and all he has to do is find a ninth. He should play a low club to the ace at trick two and lead a low club back towards dummy's K-9-6.

Then:

1. If West shows out, South goes up with the king and returns a club to the jack.

2. If West follows low at trick three, South inserts the nine, thus assuring three club tricks, come what may.

3. If West follows suit with the ten or the queen, South is again sure of at least three club tricks.

The safety play in clubs guarantees three club tricks and hence insures the contract against every possible lie of the cards.

Murder trial scheduled Jan. 20

HILLSBORO — Highland County's third murder trial in five months has been scheduled for January 20.

The date was announced after Mrs. Dorcie Campbell, Rt. 1, Hillsboro, pleaded innocent to a murder charge in Highland County Common Pleas Court. Mrs. Campbell, 53, was one of three persons indicted by a Highland County grand jury in early December. She and the other three indicted by the grand jurors were arraigned before Highland County Common Pleas Court Judge Darrell R. Hottle. Mrs. Campbell's bond was continued at $20,000. She is currently free on bond.

If convicted on the murder charge, Mrs. Campbell faces a sentence of 15 years to life imprisonment. She is charged in connection with the November 6 shooting death of her husband, Andrew Campbell, 55, which occurred at the family's mobile home in the Rocky Fork Lake area.

Also appearing were Stephen C. Mathews and Deborah Koogle, both of Hillsboro. They both entered innocent pleas to all three counts of a joint indictment.

They are charged with two counts of aggravated burglary and one count of theft. Both remain free on bond. No trial date has been scheduled for them.

Yule program presented at Kiwanis Club meeting

A special Christmas program was presented at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club Monday night in Persinger Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

A musical presentation by the Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union's quartet highlighted the program. Singing in the quartet were Sonny Walters, Tim Walters, Phil Carter and the Rev. Stan Toler. They were accompanied by Dan Rumer on the guitar and Terry Toler on the piano.

Later, some group singing of Christmas carols was held and Santa Claus arrived to distribute treats to children of the Kiwanis Club.

Over 100 Kiwanis Club members and their guests were present for the evening's activities.

The meeting was conducted by club president Duane French and Jerry Ragland arranged the program.

It was announced that the club will hold its regular monthly board of directors meeting on Dec. 22 in the Terrace Lounge.

Confession of murder told

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 49-year-old man charged with kidnap and murder fainted in Hamilton County Criminal Court Monday after hearing testimony by an FBI agent who said the suspect admitted the slaying of University of Cincinnati coed Susan Gorman.

John William Boyd of Middletown has been charged kidnapping in Cincinnati and murder in Pendleton County, Ky. Miss Gorman, 19, disappeared Thanksgiving Eve and her body was found several days later in rural Campbell County, Ky.

Peter A. Lindner, special agent with the Cincinnati FBI office, testified that he talked with Boyd Dec. 8, the day the man was arrested. Lindner said Boyd related how he picked up the victim, strangled her and dumped her body.

Lindner said Boyd told of calling the Gorman family and demanding $5,000 ransom.

As Lindner finished testifying, Boyd slumped from his chair and lay motionless on the courtroom floor until revived.

After the hearing, he was bound to the county grand jury under $200,000 bond.

Meantime, 30 miles away in Lawrenceburg, Ind., Dearborn County prosecutor Joseph Votaw set a trial date of Jan. 27 for Boyd on charges of kidnap, rape and attempting to commit a crime with a deadly weapon. A change of venue from Dearborn County to Franklin County, Ind., has been granted for the trial.

The charges stem from abduction and rape of a Dillsboro, Ind., girl in 1974.

Chilly weather has moved into the state and is expected to be with us for a few days. Readings in the 30s this morning were not expected to climb much today.

Along with the increasingly cold air moving in from the northwest, some clearing was expected today. A low pressure system now in northern Minnesota will spread considerable cloudiness over the state again tonight and Wednesday.

Last evening brought measureable precipitation to several places, with amounts ranging up to about one-tenth inch in Marietta, Toledo, Findlay and Akron-Canton.

Business news

Downtown properties sold

Buildings housing three businesses in the 200 block of E. Court Street have been purchased by Robert C. Parrett, of Washington C.H.

Parrett, a retired funeral home owner and operator, purchased the business buildings from the estate of the Late Muriel J. Hays, who died in July of 1974.

Purchased were the buildings housing Hair Fantasy of America, Inc.,

243 E. Court St., the Martha Washington Shop, 247 E. Court St., and Foy-Johnston paint and wall paper store, 249 E. Court St.

Occupants of the three buildings lease the business space from Parrett, who said he has no plans for any changes.

The transaction was handled by Mac Dews real estate, 138 E. Court St.

North Toledo woman slain

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Rosetta Morgan, 47, of North Toledo was shot to death Sunday by a man who knocked on door and fired one shot when the door was opened, witnesses said.

Neighbors said a car with four men stopped in front of the house. One man got out and knocked at the door, fired and went back to the car. Then the auto sped off, police were told.
